

MAMA BETH PROGRAM, KENYA

$25 can provide:

- › One month of school lunches for four children in Kenya.
- › Weekly support for a seamstress making uniforms.

$50 can provide:

- › Sanitary napkins for 40 girls which are essential for them to stay in school.
- › One month of school lunches for nine children.
- › Uniforms for three children.

$75 can provide:

- › Safe drinking water to a family in our program.
- › One month of school lunches for 13 children.

$100 can provide:

- › Sanitary napkins for 80 girls which are essential for them to stay in school.
- › Monthly support for a seamstress making uniforms.

$250 can provide:

- › Access to safe drinking water for four families.
- › Monthly support for two cooks at the program.

$500 can provide:

- › Uniforms for 38 children.
- › Access to safe drinking water for eight families.

$600 can provide:

- › Monthly education support for pre-school and primary school students.

$1,000 can provide:

- › Access to safe drinking water for 16 families.

$1,500 can provide:

- › Monthly cost for Kago school feeding program five days a week.
- › Monthly cost for KingAtua school feeding program five days a week.

$1,800 can provide:

- › Monthly cost for Kiambogo primary and pre-school feeding program five days a week.

$2,500 can provide:

- › A month of holistic care for 35 children.
- › Christmas celebration with a meal, dessert, and food packages for families.

$10,000 can provide:

- › One semester of university education for 20 children.
- › A year of school fees, uniforms, and supplies for 60 children.

$15,000 can provide:

- › A fully furnished home with electricity and running water for a single parent and their children.
- › New infrastructure to connect a well to a community.

Bringing hope and love to vulnerable children and their families living in extreme poverty in rural Kenya.

WHY KIJABE

In the mountains 30 miles from Kenya's capital, Nairobi, lies an area known as Kijabe, which translates to "Place of the Wind." Kijabe's challenging weather, characterized by erratic rainfall patterns and prolonged droughts, creates an unstable economy for the families struggling to survive there.

Children in Kijabe, Kenya, live in some of the most dire conditions on our planet. Many have been orphaned due to AIDS and suffer from extreme malnutrition and preventable water-borne illnesses.

Most families cannot afford to send their children to school, and for those who can, it often requires miles of walking barefoot to get there. This is especially dangerous for girls who are vulnerable to sexual abuse.

OUR PROGRAM | MAMA BETH CHILDREN'S PROGRAM

Our program was started decades ago by a dedicated Kenyan woman, "Mama Beth", who began feeding and caring for children out of her own home. This same passion and dedication continue to be the heart of our program, now led by Mama Beth's daughter, Jane Wathagana.

The Mama Beth program is a small property with a big impact. The kitchen provides meals for over 600 children across four schools. The on-site preschool offers children the essential educational foundation they need to excel. Within the office building, there is a room where skilled tailors sew school uniforms for children in need. Additionally, children receive school tuition, medical evaluations, access to safe drinking water, and guidance from our spiritual coordinator. Families are helped with food packages and our new home-building initiative.

Through practical assistance and the love of Christ, hundreds of children's lives are being transformed.

JANE WATHAGANA Director of Mama Beth Children's Program

Jane Wathagana was born in Kijabe, Kenya, into a large family of twelve, where financial stability was a rare luxury. Raised by her single mother, Mama Beth, who struggled to provide for twelve children, Jane's early years were marked by a scarcity of clothes and food. At 20, driven by hope and ambition, Jane moved to Nairobi. Despite numerous challenges, her determination and strong work ethic led her to establish a successful tour company, renowned for its exceptional service and unique experiences.

Jane's dedication to helping children deepened when Mama Beth could no longer manage her program. Since 2006, Jane has devoted herself to overseeing this ministry, focusing on nurturing young lives and believing in their potential. Today, she feeds over 1,000 children across various schools, five days a week, providing vital support and opportunities for a brighter future. Married with two children, Jane loves to see the growth of young people and she believes in the potential they have.